

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Bowles have sent out invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Lucy, to Alexander Stuart Robertson, of Staunton, the ceremony to take place on Thursday evening, June 6, at 9 o'clock, in Emanuel Church, at Staunton. Both Mr. Robertson and the bride-elect are prominently known in society of the State, and their wedding next month will be a very important event, with many distinguished guests in Staunton for the ceremony. Miss Bowles has several times visited friends here. Mr. Robertson, who is a graduate of the University of Virginia, is related to the Rt. Rev. Robert A. Gibson and Mrs. Hunter McGuire, of this city. Quite a contingent of Richmond people will go to Staunton to be present at the wedding.

Returned from Abroad.

James G. Tinsley and his daughters, Misses Claire and Lenore Tinsley, reached Richmond Friday evening, after an absence of several months abroad. Mr. Tinsley and his daughters left last January to spend the winter months in Egypt, later visiting places of interest in Southern Europe and England. They have opened their country place, "Plequeque," near town.

Interesting Festival.

Richmond people are very much interested in the approach of the May Festival and Bazaar for Local Jewish Charities, which will take place next week at the Masonic Temple. The affair will be beautifully arranged for the occasion, and a very attractive program has been made up for the evening entertainments. The affair will be held on May 27, 28 and 29, with a special matinee on Tuesday afternoon.

Reception for John Powell.

A very interesting event of this week will be the reception given by Miss Virginia Randolph Elliott in her home on Laurel Street, when the alumnae of her school are invited to meet John Powell. The reception for Mr. Powell will be at half-past 6 o'clock this evening, and all former students of the school are expected, though no formal invitations have been sent out.

Bridge Club Entertained.

Miss Nellie MacKell was the hostess Tuesday afternoon of the Bridge Club at her home, "Claremont," near Pulaski. The club was entertained in honor of her guest, Mrs. N. B. Comstock, who returned to her home to-day. There were three tables played.

Miss Mary Morris Ambler left Washington yesterday to make a series of visits in Virginia during June, before going North for the late summer.

Horace Hooper, of Richmond, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spencer at their home, in Newport News.

Judge R. Carter Scott is in Harrisonburg for a stay of several days.

Reid-Miller.

Powhatan, Va., May 23.—A pretty marriage was solemnized yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, in the May Memorial Baptist Church here, when Miss Gay Langhorn Miller became the bride of Richard Fox Reid, of Richmond. Rev. Frank Stringfellow officiating. The church was prettily decorated in white and pink. The bride entered with her uncle, Henry Patterson, of Richmond, by whom she was given in marriage. She wore a handsome gown of soft white silk, and her tulle veil was caught with orange blossoms. Her only ornament was a single pair of pearls, which has been in the family for several generations. Miss Ocie Goode attended as maid of honor. She wore white and pink mull and carried pink peonies. Maurice Miller, brother of the bride, was best man. Mendelason's wedding march was played by Nannie Reynolds. Guests who attended the wedding from elsewhere were Miss Lou Reid, sister of the groom, Mrs. Mary Weisiger, and Miss Eleanor Wingfield, of Richmond; Miss Marguerite Watkins, of Farmville; Mrs. Augustine Royer, Mrs. Lavinia Mosby, of Richmond; Mr. Henry Patterson, of Richmond. Mr. and Mrs. Reid left immediately after the ceremony for West.

CHURCH COUNCIL TO MEET TUESDAY

Delegates From Diocese of Southern Virginia Will Attend.

BIBLE CLASSES ORGANIZE

Sudden Death of Mrs. Mary Frances Jordan—Other News.

Times-Dispatch Bureau, 5 Bollingbrook Street, (Telephone 1185), Petersburg, Va., May 23.

The twentieth annual Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in the Diocese of Southern Virginia, will meet in St. Paul's Church in this city on Tuesday morning next at 10 o'clock. The council is composed of about eighty clergymen and lay representatives from each church, for all of whom entertainment will be furnished in the hospitable homes of Petersburg.

The territory embraced in the diocese extends from the Eastern Shore to Bristol in the extreme southwest, including the counties in the borders of North Carolina and Tennessee, and its lines take in also the counties north of Lynchburg as far as and including Augusta and Highland.

With the eastern portion of the diocese are a number of Colonial churches, some of them still in use, and all of them rich in history. These are Old Jamestown Church, on Jamestown Island (in ruins); Bruton Parish Church, Williamsburg; Old Blandford Church, Petersburg; new a memorial chapel, St. Paul's, Norfolk; Trinity, Portsmouth; Eastern Shore Chapel, Princess Anne county; St. John's, Hampton; St. George's, Accomac county; Hungers Church, Northampton; Grace Church, York county; the Glebe Church, Nansemond county; St. John's, Nansemond county; St. Luke's Church, Isle of Wight; Merchant's Hope Church, in Prince George county, and Sapony Church, in Dinwiddie.

The Rt. Rev. Alfred Magill Randolph, D. D., LL. D., D. C. L., bishop of the diocese, is president of the council, and the Rt. Rev. Beverley Dandridge Tucker, D. D., is bishop-coadjutor. The officers of the council are: Secretary, the Rev. William A. Brown, of Portsmouth; Assistant Secretary, the Rev. R. P. Miner, of Norfolk; Treasurer, Porteus Whittier, of Petersburg; Chancellor, W. W. Old, of Norfolk; Registrar and Historiographer, the Rev. C. B. Bryan, of Petersburg.

The council will open on Tuesday with divine service and the administration of the Holy Communion by Bishop Randolph, assisted by Bishop Tucker. The annual reports and addresses of the bishops are always matters of great interest.

The council will have before it for consideration the proposition to establish a high school to be conducted under the auspices of the council as a church school for the education of boys.

The parochial reports made to the last session of the council shows the following diocesan statistics: Number of clergy, 80; number of families in diocese, 10,435; number of communicants, 15,156 white, and 1,538 colored; number of lay readers, 65; Sunday school teachers, 871; scholars, 8,893; confirmed during the year, 1,081; receipts, $492,284.

There are three convocations in the diocese: The Norfolk, the Central, which includes Petersburg, and the southwestern. There are two archdeacons—Rev. John J. Lloyd, for the Southwest, and Rev. James S. Russell, for colored work.

A meeting of the Baraca classes of the city was held this week at Wesley M. E. Church, and a Bible class Union was organized, with the following officers representing different churches: President, S. E. Marks, of Ettrick; First Vice-President, E. W. Warrington; Second Vice-President, A. E. Duell; Secretary, W. R. Duell; Assistant Secretary, Julian Magee; Treasurer, C. S. Harriner; Press Reporter, J. H. Perkins. The classes will have a rally Sunday evening at Wesley Church.

Sudden Death of Mrs. Jordan.

Mrs. Mary Frances Jordan, aged sixty-eight years, died quite suddenly yesterday afternoon, at the home of her son, Walter L. Jordan, on High Street. She had been in feeble health for some time, but her death was entirely unexpected. The body was taken to Crewe, her former home, to-day for burial. Besides her son she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Ashworth, of Portsmouth, and three sisters.

Personal and Otherwise.

At the manse of the Second Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon, the Rev. J. A. McClure, of Ettrick, Mrs. Bertha Ruby Howard and James McCanday both of Richmond, were married. Relatives of the young couple came to Petersburg with them.

A youth named Belcher while playing ball on High Street this afternoon, was struck and knocked down by a bicyclist and quite painfully hurt and bruised. He was taken into the office of Dr. J. Bolling Jones, where his wounds were dressed.

Three stores to be erected on Sycamore Street by L. A. Rosenstock, have been engaged before a brick has been laid.

The Democratic delegates from the Fourth District, at Norfolk to-day, refused to make any change in the district committee, with the exception of electing W. C. Winn, a member in place of Thomas Arvin, of Lunenburg, who resigned. J. Gordon Bobbans, of Petersburg, was elected delegate for the district, and Dr. Jos. M. Burke, of Petersburg, and N. T. Palmer, of Greensville, were elected delegates to the national convention.

The commencement exercises of the Southern Female College will begin on Sunday, with the graduating exercises and art exhibit on Monday night, and the final concert on Tuesday night at the college hall. Miss Margaret Beall Williams, of Maryland, has the distinction of being the only full graduate this year, but there will be graduation in the various schools as follows: Miss Agnes Allen, Miss Lucie Drewry, Miss Katherine Pinner, Miss Mildred Ribble, of Virginia; Miss Marie Brown, of Massachusetts; Miss Lotie Stephens, of North Carolina, and Miss Lora Siew of West Virginia.

FLORENCE CHETWYND IS AGAIN IN TROUBLE

Pays No Attention to Court Directions and Order Issued for Her Arrest.

BY LA MARQUINE DE FONTENAY.
FLORENCE CHETWYND, widow of Hon. Richard Chetwynd, who would have succeeded to his father's viscountcy but for his suicide several years ago is again in trouble. This time she has come into conflict with the London Bankruptcy Court, and as she has failed to pay attention to the directions of that tribunal, an order has been issued for her arrest.

Her bankruptcy is due to her almost insane efforts to assist her husband, the late Sir Herbert Naylor-Leyland, and co-heir of the colossal fortune of old Tom Naylor-Leyland, who founded the Leyland Line of steamers. Sir Herbert married an extremely pretty American woman, Jennie Chamberlain, of Cleveland, Ohio, who used to be so great a favorite with King Edward and Queen Alexandra, for the reason, as they said, that she was about the only American woman they knew who did not deprecate things American, and, above all, her countrywomen.

Sir Herbert died very suddenly a few years ago, as a Member of Parliament and as an officer of the Royal Household. Her eldest son, Lord Chetwynd, a foxy, and were condemned to penal servitude. Since then she has been living on an allowance made to her by the court, and has been in financial straits, constantly in financial trouble, and compelled to have frequent recourse to her relatives.

But to return to Florence Chetwynd. Her marriage was not a happy one. Sir Richard had frequently been bankrupt, and upon his father-in-law for money, and had a sober moment, and was ultimately divorced by his wife, the court giving the custody of their two daughters to her. But Mrs. Chetwynd was extremely extravagant, not only in money but also in her conduct; so much so that her husband caused her to be committed to a lunatic asylum, whence, however, she secured her release through appeal to the highest courts. During the few months that she spent in the lunatic asylum before her husband's death, her mother, old Mrs. Thomas Naylor-Leyland, widow of the millionaire shipowner of the Leyland Line of steamers, obtained an order from the court, intrusting her with the custody of her granddaughters. But her daughter was no sooner out of the asylum than she instituted proceedings against her mother, bringing all sorts of outlandish evidence to show that the latter was not a fit person to be intrusted with the education of young people, being, as she alleged, half crazy, and given up to spiritualistic fads and fancies. So extraordinary was the evidence presented by the daughter against the mother, and by the mother against the daughter, that the courts finally decided that neither of the two women was fit to be guardian of the young girls, and accordingly assigned them to the custody of an elderly member of the Leyland family.

family, Mr. Christopher John Leyland, of Hagerstown Castle, Northumberland.

Before they had been there for more than a couple of years, their mother made a desperate attempt to abduct them and have no child to her want. It is only just to mention that the young girls, who are devoted to their mother, and were very unhappy at the thought of leaving her, were only too anxious to be abducted, and to get away to Paris with their mother, beyond the reach of the arm of the English law. Through indiscretion and treachery, however, the plot for their abduction came to naught, and when Mrs. Chetwynd's confederates were arrested, she herself managed to escape on board her yacht, and to reach the Continent. For a number of years after her flight to Paris, as an outlaw, with a warrant out for her arrest in the event of her return to England on a charge of contempt of court. This warrant was subsequently succeeded in having withdrawn. Less fortunate, however, were those whom she had employed to assist her in contriving the escape of her daughters from Hagerstown Castle. For they had rendered themselves liable to arrest on a charge of complicity in the crime, and were subsequently succeeded in having withdrawn.
